Artist Statement – PABLOIPRADA

My work delves into the darkness that lives in all of us—the hidden fears, the subtle impulses, the shadows that quietly shape our experience. I work primarily through neo-expressionist painting, drawing, and sometimes audiovisual media, using a carefully reduced palette and layered textures that record gesture, process, and emotion. Each stroke carries the weight of thought, instinct, and tension.

I do not seek to depict literal horror; instead, my pieces invite the viewer into introspection, into confronting what lies unseen within themselves. Titles, symbols, and materiality act as small rituals, transforming the act of looking into an encounter, a challenge, a conversation with one's own shadows.

My aim is to create art that goes beyond easy formulas or decorative appeal—work that communicates directly on a human, existential level, opening a space for reflection, recognition, and perhaps the uneasy acknowledgement of the truths we often try to ignore.
